“ My “Mayundy”...girl, you weren't supposed to make me feel this again any time soon. You knew my heart was still broken from losing my husband...I never thought I'd get a call saying you left me too. I am kicking myself in the butt right now for not calling you more, not visiting you more, not making More memories with you. You were such an amazing friend, Mandy. You never questioned me, you just opened your arms. You took me and my girls in under your wing and you loved us, no questions asked. I am grateful that you got to experience true love before you left this world. I'm glad that you had so many people who love you and think of you a remarkable person. I love you sweet girl. Go be with the angels. ❤️

“ I love you so much and the times we had together. All the times u had my back, front ,side even thrown on shoulders ,no matter what I was n good hands. You was always there no matter what, never judged anyone. You was the kind of friend that only comes once in a lifetime. You will never be forgotten and always loved and ur legacy will live forever. Love your lit midget sister, stacey
