“ Crystal and I have been through some of the same things in life. The last time that I seen her was 3 years ago and she was doing so good and telling me about how She had developed a relationship with the Lord Jesus Christ and was truly happy. I believe with all my heart that Crystal loved Jesus Christ. I will always cherish that day. I believe knowing and having a personal relationship with Jesus is the most important thing that anyone could do. I love your Crystal and will miss you. I wanted Crystal's mom and dad and her family and friends to know this and that I'm praying for each and every one of you.

“ Crystal your my ❤️.and we shares so much love. And I feel so bad I couldn't save you from the demon that had its grasp on you. But know you are remembered as that sweet caring soul you yourself was. And even through all the good and bad times we shared I'd not change a thing but one I shared everything in my life with you and loved you with every fiber of my being. Fly high my angel! If I could take your place I would. Without hesitation. .. there's not a moment that passes that your not missed . You could never be replaced.. you feel no more pain from childhood or adulthood now baby so just walk with god and that beautiful smile.. I love you always and will look for you as soon as I get there..I love you cls

I will never forget the first time I ever met you. You were about 3 or 4 year's old. You were the most beautiful little blonde haired, blue eyed little girl I have ever seen. Then you grew into a beautiful young lady. I remember how every 4th of July when they had the celebrations up town, you would come up to where we were and hug us and call Ed, uncle Ed. We loved you so much. And we will Always love you and miss you. Our heart's are so broken right now. I remember 2 day's before you left us, you and I were talking on facebook and the last thing you said was, I love ya'll. I will never forget those word's to me. God I love you Crystal and miss you so much. I know your family does too.R.I.P. sWest girl till I see you again.
