“ Oh the memories with the legend, my papa, Donald Lafoy Brezeale. A legend in my eyes because of the greatness of his character. He loved us dearly with all his strength. His strength...Papa sure was a strong man. He could lift and move mountains according his Luke(me). All the memories of growing up around Papa Zeale will live forever in my heart and mind. If I could but be half the man as my Papa was then I'd be doin alright. He was our sense of security around neighborhood. Nobody messes with his Baby Girl(mom) or her family. He had a gun and would never hesitate to use it for us. He almost had a birds eye view of our home. If he saw anyone pull up to the house when we weren't there he'd go down there to make sure they had the ok to be there.. He was our guard. Did Papa ever tell us he loved us? Not that I can remember. You see there are many things that can go unsaid because they are shown better than spoken. I never once doubted if my Papa loved us. I knew he did! Boy I sure loved talking chickens with him. I love chickens and he was my chicken buddy. I sure am gonna miss those kind of talks. If you didn't learn anything from Papa, you weren't listening. Every time you stepped onto his land he would tell you how to work on this or how to build that. He was a wise man. I never knew of him to have any flaws. Of course this is coming from a child who adored his grandfather. I am so thankful to be the grandson of Donald Lafoy Brezeale. I am also proud that my Papa accepted the Lord into his heart several weeks prior to passing. I love you Papa and I sure miss you. See you real soon!
