“ We had the privilege to meet George when he cut several trees for us at Laurel Valley Lodge. He shared his cancer diagnosis with us and we referred him to Emory Hospital in Atlanta.
He was a wonderful arborist's and tree cutter.
We are saddened to learn that he passed away. Sending our condolences to the family.

“ I know none of you know me or why I would have ever crossed paths with George who we all knew as King Latour. I met him online 3 years ago through a gaming platform and instantly knew he was a person of value, integrity and incredible character. Although I have only gotten to know him from a distance, feel that the world is now missing out on an individual that embodied what it meant to live day in and day out with undeniable strength, warmth of character and the grace of compassion. Tears for him although we never met in person just cannot be controlled as he lost his battle with Cancer. He shared his journey with many of us through our online platform. We are and were an online family, his loss is undeniably devastating to all of us who were blessed to get to know him! That loss to us cannot compare to what those who did grow up with him, knew him throughout the years and became close to him must be feeling now. My heart goes out to you all! His legacy will always remain strong and become stronger as we each share who and what he meant to each of us through the generations to come. Each time we remember him and share our memories with others his eternal flame burns brighter. We are his flame barriers now and we will forever and always honor him! Rest in peace my incredible amazing friend! I am so thankful the pain is finally over but so sad we will never talk again of your hopes for your family and all who you loved. You're friend always and forever Cassandrablue 1125 VAL Strong!

“ George "is" such an inspiration to all of us. His love for GOD, his faith in prayer, his positive outlook and always joking. He was always a joy to be around.

I am surely going to miss you Georgie! I am so glad that I have known you. My thought when George passed is how wonderful he must have felt the very moment he stepped into glory, for many years he dealt with cancer and pain, but when he stepped into heaven, No More Cancer No More Pain. Hallelujah! I will see you again George, soon JESUS is coming. We love you, I love you. Dance for me on those streets of gold. (Tell my son Trent Rogers, and your aunt/uncle Dillard/Alvia Robinson, Hello, we miss you and love you.)

We love you all so much. Soon we all will be together again.
