“ Heaven is even nicer now that his kind gentle soul is there. He told me once he had almost all of his children in church and that having them all there was his goal. His joy was in his family. He said that his family was the most important thing to him.

“ He loved his horses, Blue Boy, was his all time favorite. He would ride him everyday when we were younger. Jim shared rides on him to all the cousins and kin. He was patient with those of us a little younger always trying to keep up. He left us with some great memories.
