Lizzie Mae "Cookie" Cassell Alexander
Pickens, South Carolina

Lizzie Mae "Cookie" Cassell Alexander, age 87, beloved wife of the late Wallace Alexander, embraced eternal rest on Friday, December 20, 2024, at her cherished home, surrounded by her adoring family.

Born on January 10, 1937, in Pickens County, South Carolina, Cookie was the daughter of the late Loree Cassell Gilstrap. A true artisan, she found joy in gardening and canning, along with weaving love into every stitch as she crocheted prayer shawls and crafted Christmas ornaments for her church, family, and friends. Her artistic gifts flourished in fundraising for her church, embodying the spirit of generosity. Mrs. Alexander held dear her family, the joy of sharing her canned food and recipes with friends and family, Clemson football, gospel melodies, sharing in the day-to-day lives of her family and friends, hosting parties, and the many trips shared with friends and family amidst the majestic mountains of North Carolina and Tennessee.

Her legacy lives on through her children, Kay Bolding (Glenn) and Rhonda Hester (Larry), both of Pickens; grandchildren, Regina Harned (David), Tracey Brock (J.J.), and Steven Hester (Kelly); and great-grandchildren, Brysie, Madelyn, Josiah, Mackynzie, Jaxxston, Emersyn, and Everley. She is also survived by her siblings, Jimmy Crowe (Inez) of Pickens, and Carl Crowe (Pat) of Liberty; sister-in-law, Winniefred Robinson of Liberty; along with a multitude of cherished friends.

In addition to her beloved husband, Mrs. Alexander was predeceased by her mother, Loree Cassell Gilstrap.
