“ I can’t believe I’m just now hearing about this. Randall was my neighbor and one of the kindest people I’ve known. I’d see him walking his dog every morning on my way to work, and we’d occasionally chat over the fence—about things like our awful internet or whether the patio I built was actually a pool in progress. One time, he saw me struggling to cut down a dead tree in my yard and came over with an electric saw, took it down in one clean pass, and headed back like it was nothing. That was just the kind of guy he was. I’m truly saddened to hear of his passing—he’ll be deeply missed.
