“ My husband and I met Scott about a year or so ago. We instantly liked Scott. He and I had some great conversations. He talked of his family, Tiffany, and about his camping adventures and much more. We met him by referral through the real-estate company that was helping us spruce up my family home. He became much more than someone to do some work. We called Scott our friend. He was always willing to help and was very consciousness of his work. We will miss him. I am grateful we got to know him.
